

Jacqueline Kari

Writing and Communication Program, Georgia Institute of Technology
215 Bobby Dodd Way N.W. | Atlanta, GA 30332
762-400-1523 | jkari3@gatech.edu

Current Academic Appointment

Marion L. Brittain Postdoctoral Teaching Fellowship, Writing and Communication Program,
Georgia Institute of Technology, 2025–present

Education

PhD, English: Creative Writing, University of Georgia | May 2022
MFA, English: Creative Writing Poetry and Book Arts, Louisiana State University | 2014
MA, English: Creative Writing Poetry, Miami University | 2010
BA, English: Creative Writing Poetry and French, Miami University | 2007

Teaching Interests

Ekphrasis, Multimodality, and Rhetorical Awareness: Visual Art Integration in First-Year Writing
Adaptation; Paper Trails: Manufactured Traditions and Future Progress; Variation in Fairy Tales,
Folktales, Traditional Ballads

Research Areas

Visual Art and Ekphrasis; Creative Writing and Lyric Poetry; Adaptation and Variation in Fairy
Tales, Folktales, Traditional Ballads; Book Arts; Modernist Poets; American Literature in the Long
Twentieth Century; Digital Humanities; First-year writing.

Recent Publications

Four Poems, Trilobite, flicker into this pumpkin on a wet halloween, jack Issue, October 2023

Four Poems, The Action Books Blog, June 2021

How—Dashing, Annulet: A Journal of Poetics, 2021

[On \[Catherine Wagner's\] Of Course](#), The Georgia Review, Fall 2021